

Updated Snapshot: Chile (CHI)

Statement

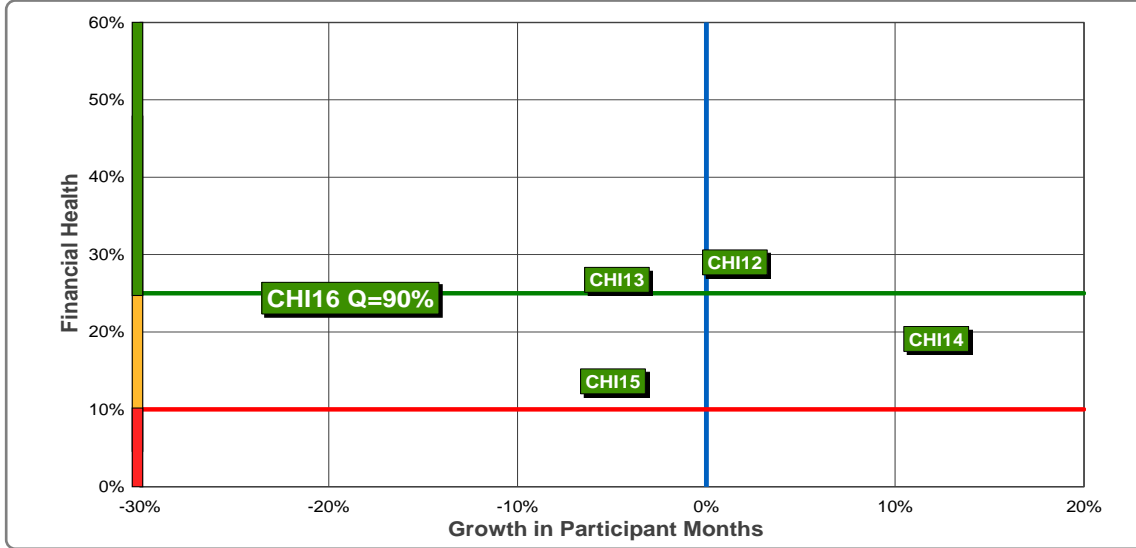

Given the slowdown of the Chilean economy, on top of the uncertainty created by various political reforms underway (income tax, education and labor), we are facing a large decrease in our sending participants. In 2016 we created a full time position dedicated to Volunteer Development with the task to strengthen our volunteer force, reactivate existing chapters and open new chapters which will help us increase our recruitment volume.

Market Environment

Market Trends and Forecasts
There is a strong decline in high school mobility, mainly due to new and more opportunities being offered by universities for exchanges at that level. Students (and their parents) are concerned that a semester or year abroad will delay / affect their university entrance.
